

Linda Ludke

London Public Library
251 Dundas Street
London, ON N6A 6H9
linda.ludke@lpl.ca
twitter: @lindamludke

I'm sincere in my offer to write back to anyone who wants to write. Actually, I'm working on making this personal pick letter writing project into a conference session - perhaps some of the campers might be interested in talking to me (with their parents permission, of course) about what they would like the library to do to help them find books.

I've curated an OverDrive ebook list with some of their favourite books they mentioned, along with some readalikes - poetry is in there, novels in verse. I've posted it to the top of the OverDrive site for the week, and will also at the top of the Kids OverDrive site:

<https://lpl.overdrive.com/collection/1071922>

<https://lpl.overdrive.com/library/youth>

Here's the info about volunteering in the READ program:

<https://www.londonpubliclibrary.ca/about-my-library/volunteer>

And here's information about applying for a Page job:

<https://www.londonpubliclibrary.ca/employment>

Pam Withers

<https://pamwithers.com>

Book reviews, author profiles, book trailers and more at <https://yadudebooks.ca>

Madi B from YAVC has a poem on the site <https://yadudebooks.ca/a-world-of-hate/>

Want to be a book reviewer? <https://yadudebooks.ca> is looking for male or non-binary YA book enthusiasts to join a volunteer book review team (review 1 book per month which you get to keep).